Sinister message

British nationalists are used to being discriminated against and are used to injustice, but the alleged comments of a Crown Court Judge made during the trial of Kevin Hughes are sinister. If the Home Office has truly instructed the Judiciary to treat nationalists convicted of offences that may (or may not) have some racial content differently, then we are on dangerous ground. The British Judiciary have since Magna Carta been politically independent. It would be sad to see them surrender that independence now.

Jack Straw: A government Trojan horse

When Jack Straw raised concerns about Muslim women wearing a face veil he said it was because emphasising their Muslim identity was hindering "integration". This is not the real reason, nor was Jack acting alone, we believe. The government are terrified that Britons will one day awake and say, "what are all these foreigners doing in my country". Labour hopes that Muslims, by abandoning the Burkah will be somehow mistaken by native Britons as a kind of well tanned "one of us", and will the government target turbans next?

Forget it Jack, we will not be fooled. Our race is our nation and forever will be.

Is the Church of England waking up at last?

An advisor to the Archbishop of Canterbury, the spiritual leader of the Church of England accuses the government of showing political preference to Muslims and using taxpayers' money to promote Islam. If he is so truly concerned, then why have Church schools just announced that they have allocated 25% of places to pupils of other religions?

If the Church really expects the masses to believe their propaganda, then they must be consistent.

Banking Delays: Our Apologies.

Due to a combination of ill-health and holidays there was a delay in banking some cheques received in late August and September. This was eventually resolved and banking arrangements are now back to normal.

ARROGANT and INTOLERANT.. ISLAM TODAY

Britain and Europe faces a crisis of unknown magnitude as followers of Islam become ever bolder in demanding what is conceivably complete servitude by the indigenous Christian population to the demands of Islam.

But for many years Muslims have lived amongst us in peace, quietly practicing their religion and culture, while respecting the majority host Christian population.

So what has gone wrong?

A few cartoons published in a Danish newspaper led to demands by "moderate Muslims" that our freedom of speech and expression be even more severely curtailed, while less moderate Muslims took to the streets of many European capitals organising violent demonstrations and riots.

More recently, a speech by the worldwide leader of the Christian Catholic Church, the Pope, in which he quoted comments made by a 14th-century Byzantium Emperor condemning some Muslim activities led to Europe-wide protests by Muslims, some of whom even demanded the execution or assassination of the Christian leader. The Pope was advised by liberal appeasers in the Vatican to apologise and he duly did so, but that was not enough to stop the destruction of many Christian churches in the Middle East, and the murder of a 66-year old Italian Nun by Muslim extremists in Africa.

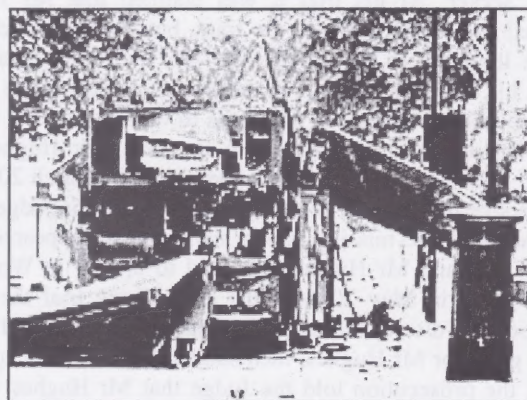

In London, Muslims demonstrated outside of Westminster Cathedral, the spiritual home of British Catholicism, and despite prominently displaying insulting and provocative posters such as "Jesus is the slave of Allah" and "Pope go to hell", the police tamely stood by and watched. There were no arrests!

"Jesus is the slave of Allah"

It is this typical cowardly reaction by the authorities, which we believe is the core of the growth of Muslim arrogance and intolerance. This Labour government, full of MP's who depend on the Muslim vote in their constituencies, are terrified of upsetting the Muslim community.

For example, within hours of the bombings in London on July 7th 2005 by Muslim extremists, Labour MP's and government ministers were pacifying unelected and unaccountable Muslim "Community leaders". This action gave the green light to militant Muslims to demand the introduction of Islamic Sharia law into Britain, special public holidays and the vow that one day our country will become a Muslim state.

Despite claims by the British Security Services that Britain was facing an increasing threat from "thousands of terrorist suspects living in Britain", almost certainly all of whom are Muslim, every time that our police raid the homes of suspects, they are closely followed by Labour politicians apologising for any inconvenience caused "to the community". In March this year the government introduced the Terrorism Act 2006, which made preaching support or glorification of terrorist acts an offence liable to attract a term of imprisonment of up to five years. This has not deterred the preachers of hate simply because no one has yet been prosecuted. If we are to resolve the twin problems of Muslim arrogance and intolerance we need to be less tolerant as a nation. Ethnic minority and foreign born Muslims must be reminded that they are guests in this country and should behave as such. Their freedom to practice their religion could be restricted, in line with the way that many Muslim countries restrict practicing Christians.

Mosques that are used as a venue for preaching hate must be immediately demolished and the rubble left as a permanent reminder. The entire family of convicted terrorists should be immediately deported to their ethnic homelands, their assets seized and used to compensate terrorist victims. Finally it should be made clear to Muslim communities throughout Europe that they have a responsibility to live as guests in our homeland, or they must leave!

British Nationalist Loses Court Appeal

British National Party election agent, Kevin Hughes has lost his appeal against his conviction of racially aggravated common assault. Mr Hughes, a 46 year-old charity organiser was jailed last May after being found guilty of racially assaulting an Iraqi asylum seeker. At his trial it was claimed that Mr Hughes assaulted and racially abused the Iraqi, but Mr Hughes claimed that the Iraqi had in fact struck him first and that he had only pushed his assailant away. The Iraqi complained to the police and despite there being no witnesses to corroborate the assault claim, and no apparent injuries to the man, Mr Hughes was arrested later that day. The case came to trial in March 2005 and as the police had lost all of the case paperwork the judge threw the case out. The missing papers mysteriously appeared three months later and Mr Hughes was told to appear in Worcester Crown Court in May 2006. At the start of the trial the Judge found several discrepancies in the Iraqi's evidence and things looked good for Mr Hughes, then suddenly, and for no apparent reason, the prosecution told the Judge that Mr Hughes was an active member of the British National Party.

At this point the Judge made a sinister comment that he (and presumably other members of the Judiciary) had instructions from the Home Office to make an example of "racist behaviour". Then, despite Mr Hughes having no previous convictions, and without pre-sentencing reports the Judge sentenced him to 30 months in prison! At his appeal in the High Court in London, Mr Justice Holland upheld the conviction but reduced Mr Hughes's sentence by six months. British nationalists have become used to unfair and unequal treatment by the Judiciary, but in this case their bias in sentencing is too blatant for words!

In Nottinghamshire the local NA has organised a protest campaign against further expansion by the supermarket giant Tesco, who plan to build a massive new store in the small market town of Worksop. The campaign has received large scale support from locals.

DAVID IRVING APPEAL IS REJECTED

The campaign to free the respected British historian, David Irving from prison in Austria took a setback when the Austrian Supreme Court refused to hear his appeal against conviction. A separate appeal against the sentence of three-years imprisonment will be heard by a lower court in November.

Uproar As BNP Reveal Halal Meat Served in Christian Schools

Parents of school aged children in Worcestershire were shocked to discover that halal meat, was being served in school dinner rooms without their knowledge.

Meat slaughtered using the halal method of slaughter is a religious requirement for Muslim children but in this case the meat was being served to non-Muslim children as well.

The discovery was made by the local BNP organiser, Martin Roberts who revealed that almost 100 Primary, Middle and High schools were routinely including halal meat in school meals.

Footnote: Normal methods of animal slaughter in Britain require that the animal be stunned before slaughter to minimize pain, but animals slaughtered in the halal tradition are not pre-stunned before its throat is cut. A report by the Farm Animal Welfare Council (FAWC) claimed that the halal method of slaughter causes the animal considerable suffering. (FAWC Report 2003.)

A BNP leaflet which compared a cartoon image of Muhammed with a bomb in his turban with a photograph of Muslim demonstrators threatening Europe with Extermination and the slogan "Which do you find offensive?" was condemned by Liberal councillors in Kenilworth. The leaflet had been widely distributed in the Eastern part of the town. The cartoon was one of a series first published in Denmark, which sparked riots by Muslim extremists throughout Europe.

A BNP spokesman said that the party were considering fielding candidates in the "traditional English" town and defended the leaflet on the grounds of free speech.

BPP Candidate Beats BNP Rival in Blackburn by-Election

The British People's Party astounded political observers when their candidate standing under the England First Party polled 13.5% of the vote compared to their BNP rivals 9.5%. The by-election took place in the East Rural ward and the BPP's candidate, Stephen Hart finished third, in front of the Lib-Dems (4th) Labour (5th) and the BNP (6th). The seat was won by a local Independent candidate. The BPP already have two councillors on Blackburn council.

Activists, believed to be from the BPP's Womens Division caused an upset in South Wales by placing stickers, calling for the hanging of Paedophiles in prominent places in Llanelli. The message, "Protect Our Young! Hang Paedophile Scum!" was condemned both by local Labour councillors and the Carmarthenshire Police who said that the stickers could be construed as being "incitement to assault."

It was with great sadness that we learnt of the recent death of League of St George Comrade,

Harry Lindsay

Harry joined the League in the late 1970's after meeting League members at the Pilgrimage to the Ijzer, in Diksmuide, Flanders. Harry was well known in Nationalist circles and cut a dashing figure with his immaculately groomed beard and his unmistakable Doncaster accent. He will be sadly missed!

A Look back at History

An anti-Jewish Camel Doctor!

Dr. Arnold Spencer Leese was born in Lytham, Lancs in 1877. As a young man he qualified as a veterinary surgeon and moved to British governed India where he began to specialise in diseases and maladies that effected Camels. So thorough was Leese in his research, that after just six years of studies he was regarded as the foremost expert on Camel diseases and illnesses in the British Empire!

Arnold S. Leese

At the outset of WW1 Leese joined the British Army and served with distinction on the Western Front. At the end of the war Leese returned to England and set up a veterinary practice. He also published a book, The One-Humped Camel in Health and in Disease. The book became the standard reference book for the veterinary profession throughout the world.

As a vet, Leese had a great love of animals and was abhorred when he saw them being slaughtered in a Jewish abattoir that used the Shechitah method of slaughter. This involves not stunning the animal before slaughter, but slashing its throat while the terrified animal is fully conscious. The screams of pain and terror emitted by the terrified animal were to stay with Leese for the rest of his life, and undoubtedly helped form Leese's critical opinion of Jews.

In 1924 he joined the British Fascists and under their influence became convinced of the existence of a "World Jewish Conspiracy". Whilst a member of the BF it is believed that Leese and a colleague Henry Simpson were elected as councillors in Stamford, Lincolnshire. If true, they were the first constitutionally elected Fascists in England.

Leese left the BF in 1928 and joined the more militant Imperial Fascist League, by 1930 he was its leader. The IFL made it its mission to educate the British electorate of the dangers of the "International Jewish Conspiracy" that they believed was designed to enslave the free world.

In 1933, Leese thought his warning of a conspiracy was proved without doubt when in March; the World's press published a call by the World Jewish Council for, "Jews of all the World to Unite in Action" against the newly elected National Socialist government in Germany.

Leese and his Comrades redoubled their efforts to alert the British public of the danger they believed Britain and its Empire was facing. In 1936, with war looming, the authorities retaliated by jailing Leese and one of his IFL Comrades for "public mischief" over items published in the IFL's newspaper The Fascist. For this "heinous" offence Leese was imprisoned for six months!

In 1936 Leese was jailed for six months over two articles published in The Fascist

Soon after the outbreak of WW2 Leese was back in prison. This time he was joined by dozens of other patriots detained without trial under the now infamous Defence Regulation 18B. The draconian conditions that many detainees were held in often badly affected their health and in December 1943 Leese was released because of ill-health. In 1946, Leese was suspected of being involved in a plot to assist escaped prisoners of war to flee to Spain or Argentina. Two Dutch members of the Waffen SS had escaped from Kempton Park POW camp in June 1946 and it was suspected that they had contacted supporters of the Imperial Fascist League for assistance. Leese was convicted of playing a minor part in the plot and sentenced to six months in prison. The Dutch POW's were recaptured. (the POW's were eventually returned to Holland where they were executed).

Throughout his life Arnold Leese was a prolific writer. His early output concentrated on political pamphlets on various aspects of Jewish influence and behaviour. Just after the war he launched his publication Gothic Ripples and in 1951 he wrote his biography, "Out of Step: Events in the two lives of an Anti-Jewish Camel-Doctor". Sadly Leese died in 1956 aged 79.

In the hope that his work would continue, Leese left his Gothic Ripples publication and a large house in London to a loyal supporter, Colin Jordan.

Jordan renamed the house at 74, Princedale Road, Holland Park, London, "Arnold Leese House" and many a young British nationalist embarked on a lifetime of nationalism after visiting this address. The main room of the house was dominated by a huge painting of Arnold Leese wearing his trademark "Union Jack and Swastika" armband, and it was from this house Mr Jordan formed first the "White Defence League" and later, on the 20th of April 1962 he launched the "National Socialist Movement".

"Arnold Leese House". Also known as 74, Princedale Road, London. The spiritual home of many British nationalists.

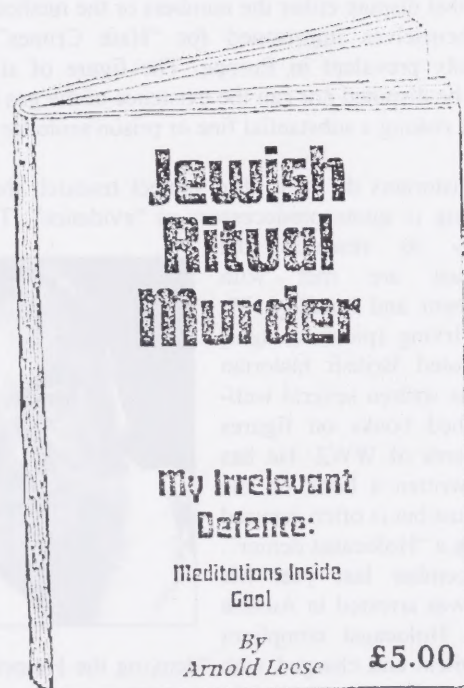

Arnold Leese house was eventually sold in 1968, but Mr Jordan still manages to produce an occasional issue of Gothic Ripples.

Gothic Ripples

"Gothic Ripples". Published by Arnold Leese from just after the war until his death in 1956. Mr Colin Jordan still publishes an occasional issue.

In the history of British nationalism Arnold Leese must best be remembered not for mass battalions of followers, but for the supreme loyalty he attracted from his supporters. He is also widely remembered for his writings, in booklet and pamphlet form of the thoughts plans and discoveries of an, Anti-Jewish Camel-Doctor!

World Domination

☆ Fact or Fiction? ☆

Ever since the publication of The Protocols of the Elders of Zion in 1905 some sections of society have been convinced that a secret plan by organised Jewry to dominate the world exists, and that their agenda is progressing successfully towards ultimate world domination. Jewish groups quite naturally deny the existence of any such plan, (they would hardly admit it, would they?) and have consistently denounced The Protocols as an anti-Semitic forgery or hoax, produced in Russia by Czar Nicholas's secret police the OKHRANA. The Protocols claim that the first step to dominating any society is to stifle one's critics and forgery or not, some sections of organised Jewry are becoming incredibly successful at this.

"First they came for the historians"

Well organised and well funded Jewish groups have indoctrinated much of the world into accepting that during WW2, Six Million Jews were murdered in German "death camps", and most of these died in specially constructed "gas chambers", we are instructed to believe.

Those that dispute either the numbers or the method of death find themselves imprisoned for "Hate Crimes", this is especially prevalent in Europe. The figure of six million cannot be disputed nor can the existence of the gas chambers without risking a substantial fine or prison sentence.

Most historians do very little subject research themselves, preferring to quote predecessors as "evidence". Those that do try to research the Holocaust are met with harassment and hostility. Mr David Irving (pictured right) is a noted British historian who has written several well-researched books on figures and events of WW2. He has never written a book on the Holocaust but is often accused of being a "Holocaust denier". In December last year Mr Irving was arrested in Austria by the Holocaust compliant government and charged with "denying the Holocaust". He is still in prison awaiting trial.

Ernst Zundel is an independent researcher who has researched and questioned the authorised version of the Holocaust for several years. Instead of being hailed as a diligent researcher with a quest for truth and accuracy, Mr Zundel was physically attacked by militant Jews, vilified by powerful sections of the Jewish community and finally deported from his home in Canada by a subservient government as a "security" risk. In truth, he was only a risk to those that have something to hide.

Mr Zundel is currently in a German prison.

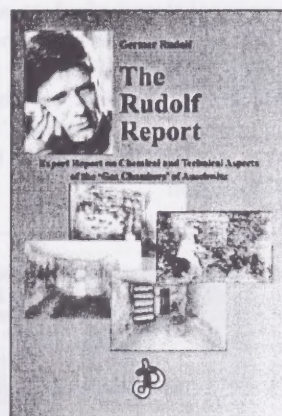

"Then they came for the scientists"

Germar Rudolf is a German-born chemist who graduated from Bonn University with a master's degree in Chemistry in 1989. As a scientist with an inquisitive mind Mr Rudolf examined the Holocaust theory that millions of Jews were gassed in specially built chambers using Zyklon B (cyanide) crystals. At the start of his research Mr Rudolf committed to be as specific and accurate as his experiments would allow, even if that meant confirming the mass gassings.

Unfortunately for him the case for extermination was far from proved and he announced this to the scientific world. As a result of his honest and open research and subsequent report, Mr Rudolf had to flee his native Germany and move to "the land of the free", the United States. Unfortunately for Mr Rudolf the US also has a subservient government and although Holocaust denial is not an offence in the United States, Mr Rudolf was deported to Germany and imprisoned.

"The banning of the books"

When a few self-important members of the British Jewish community discovered that the supermarket giant Tesco was selling copies of The Protocols on its shopping website they forced the stores to withdraw the book. Tesco customers were not to be allowed to read the book and make their own judgement; perhaps the risk was too great! The next target for the self-imposed censors was the High street book giant, W.H. Smith. Their "crime" was to sell on their internet site two books banned by the Jewish censors. The Protocols and The Jews and their Lies by Martin Luther. Various Jewish groups demanded the immediate withdrawal of the titles and despite a spokesman for WH Smiths commenting "Our website offers customers the opportunity to purchase every book that is currently in print in the UK", but they did agree to withdraw the contentious titles from sale.

But so far to date, the censors have not succeeded in imposing their censorship on the largest of the Internet booksellers, Amazon. Demands that they withdraw unapproved books from sale have met with a determined response from the company who have stated, "Unless a title is illegal, our policy is to offer the widest selection of titles. We do not believe we have the right to act as a censor and decide for people what they can and can't read".

Fortunately, not all Jews are compliant with their co-religionists efforts to stifle research and dissent. Among the most prominent of these is Norman Finkelstein, a Jewish American historian and author who has been to the fore in criticising what he calls the "Holocaust industry". Mr Finkelstein, whose parents were wartime inhabitants of the Warsaw ghetto and later inmates of Auschwitz concentration camp, has frequently appealed for a free and open debate on all aspects of this period of history, but to date, his calls have fallen on deaf ears.

Allegations of World domination, media control and the repression of historical research will only go away when the Jewish community as a whole, ignores the self-opinionated censors and joins in the demands for a full and frank public debate into all of the issues that their fellow Jews find contentious.

"By your actions shall ye be judged!"

Footnote

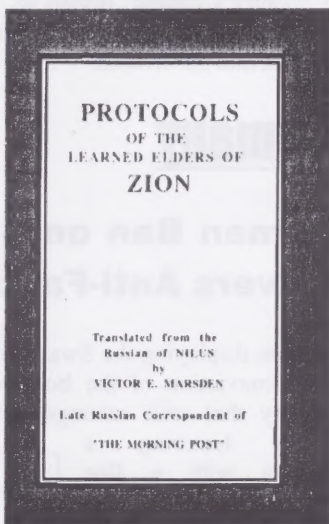

The Protocols of the Elders of Zion are allegedly the minutes of a secret meeting held by prominent Jews in pre-revolutionary Russia to establish a plan of how to gain world domination by aggression, deceit and the use of puppet politicians and puppet regimes. The minutes were allegedly of a secret meeting held in 1897, but were not made public until 1905. In 1921, Lucien Wolf, working for the Jewish Board of Deputies in London published a report, The Jewish Bogey and the Forged Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion, in which he claimed the Protocols were a forgery.

Unfortunately for Wolf, because he was Jewish, and his employers were a Jewish lobby group his report was dismissed by many as a "conflict of interest".

The Protocols were published in the United States in 1920 by the car manufacturer, Henry Ford in his privately owned newspaper, The Dearborn Independent.

The Protocols may very well be a forgery but as Henry Ford stated in ... in 1921, "The only statement I care to make about the Protocols is that they fit in with what is going on. They are sixteen years old and they have fitted the world situation up to this time. They fit it now!"

After a massive campaign of harassment and vilification by American Jewish interests Ford issued an apology to the American Jewish Community, but he never then, or since then denied that he believed the Protocols to be true".

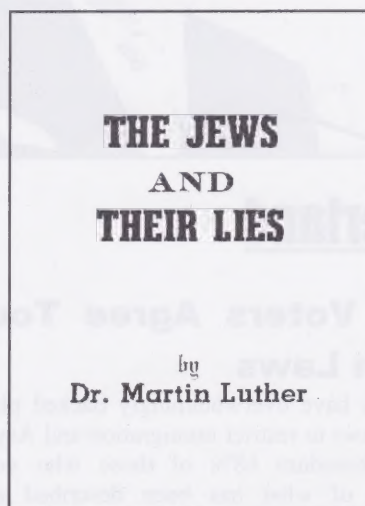

Industrialist, Henry Ford

Le Pen to Stand Trial Over “Wartime Occupation” Remarks

France

Jean-Marie Le Pen, the leader of the French patriotic party the Front Nationale is to face trial over comments made to a magazine that “the German occupation of France during WW2 had not been particularly inhumane”.

This seemingly innocent comment was interpreted by Jewish groups as being akin to denying the Holocaust. Several of these immensely powerful groups lobbied the French authorities who eventually surrendered to the pressure and charged the FN leader with “complicity in contesting crimes against humanity and complicity in justifying war crimes”.

Mr Le Pen’s lawyers feel that there is a hidden agenda to the charges. He is due to stand as a candidate in the 2007 Presidential elections but if found guilty he could be barred from standing.

Switzerland

Swiss Voters Agree Tough New Asylum Laws

Swiss voters have overwhelmingly backed plans to introduce tough new laws to restrict immigration and Asylum claims. In a national referendum 68% of those who voted agreed the introduction of what has been described as “the strictest immigration rules in Europe”. Under the new rules, prospective immigrants and asylum seekers must have skills required by the Swiss economy and must have a passport from their country of origin. Failed asylum seekers will be denied financial benefits and, will be detained until they can be deported if they fail to leave the country voluntarily.

Switzerland had just 10,000 asylum applications last year, the lowest in Europe.

Hungarian Right Take Lead In Anti-Government Protests

Hungarian Nationalists are leading the popular revolt against government corruption. An alliance of the Hungarian Justice and Life party (MIEP) and the Movement for a Better Hungary (Jobbik) have led up to 50,000 demonstrators demanding the resignation of Socialist Prime Minister Ferenc Gyurcsany, who has admitted lying to the country about Hungary’s economic position in order to win re-election. The largest demonstration organised by MIEP was in the country’s capital, Budapest, where riot police deliberately tried to provoke the peaceful demonstrators by firing tear gas canisters into the crowds.

German Ban on Swastika Symbol Delivers Anti-Fascist Into Court

A ban on displaying the Swastika symbol in public has resulted in the conviction of the boss of an “Anti-Nazi” mail order company that sells amongst other items, large badges and stickers featuring a Swastika with a line through it.

Jurgen Kamm, (pictured right) the owner of Nix Gut, a left-wing Anti-Nazi co-operative, was fined 3,600 euros by a court in Stuttgart for “displaying and distributing a symbol of an unconstitutional organisation”. Kamm intends to appeal.

Footnote: The Swastika or Hakenkreuz is one of the oldest symbols of “good luck” known to man. In Europe it appears on artefacts dating well before Christianity, and is used as a religious symbol in Hinduism and Buddhism. The four arms of the design are believed by some to represent the four winds.

Thousands flock to Nationalist Festival

Over 8000 nationalists poured into the fifth nationalist festival to be held by Deutsche Stimme, the monthly publication of the patriotic, Nationaldemokratische Partei Deutschlands (NPD). The venue was just outside of the Eastern German city of Dresden. Although primarily a family orientated event, complete with bouncy castles and other entertainments for children, there were speeches from several prominent members of the NPD as well as from specially invited guests from the French, Front National and the Spanish Falange movement. Tented accommodation was provided for those camping out and from two stages in the arena; bands entertained the audience with selections of modern rock and traditional folk music.

The NPD has been to the forefront of a campaign to get Germans to abandon their "wartime guilt" and to instead honour the sacrifices made by Germany's wartime armed forces. To this end, two honoured guests were introduced to the audience, both former members of the Waffen SS, who told the cheering crowds that they were proud to have served the Fatherland and had no regrets.

Although the majority of the audience were German, two League of George members from the Midlands did manage to meet nationalist Comrades from Austria, Sweden, Denmark and Flanders.

NPD Make Massive Gains in Regional Elections

The NPD shocked the German establishment by polling 7.2% in the regional elections in Mecklenburg-West Pomerania giving the patriots several seats in the Federal State Parliament.

In Berlin, the NPD not only won seats in the Lower House, which is equivalent to a State Parliament, but also seats on all of the four district councils.

The NPD already has representatives in the Saxony State Parliament and its electoral partners the Deutsche Volksunion, (DVU) has had representatives in the Brandenburg State Parliament since 1999.

Belgian State Continues to Harass Flemish Nationalist Party

Following a surprise decision by the House of Representatives to agree to allow a debate on a Vlaams Belang proposal to dissolve the Belgian state, the Belgian authorities retaliated by launching a new initiative aimed at destroying the Flemish nationalist party.

Under the Belgian constitution, political parties are not allowed to accept private or corporate donations but must rely on state funding based on the number of votes that they receive. However, state funding can be withheld from political parties that are judged to be either "racist" or "undemocratic".

The decision whether or not a party falls within these two categories is decided by a legal body known as the Council of State. The CoS is made up of a panel of judges who are appointed by political parties and they can take up to six months to rule on a case.

Unfortunately for the Flemish nationalist Vlaams Belang, half of the judges are from the Wallonia region of Belgium and are normally opposed to the platforms of the VB, especially that of Flemish independence.

Vlaams Blok, the predecessor of Vlaams Belang was successfully outlawed by the Belgian State and now Vlaams Belang will face an uphill struggle to survive.

CABLE STREET REVISITED

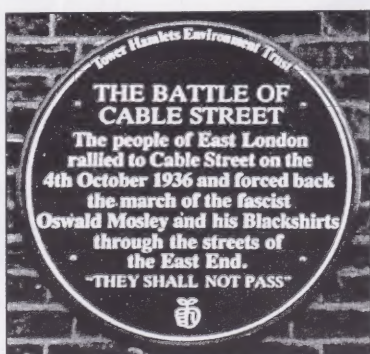

And the "Battle" that never was!

Just over seventy years ago the extreme left seized an opportunity to create a myth that continues to this day.

The myth? That on Sunday October 4th 1936 there was a battle in Stepney, East London between the extreme-left and Mosley and his Blackshirts. The myth maintains that "the people of East London rallied to Cable Street and forced back the march of Sir Oswald Mosley and his Blackshirts". The myth is further perpetuated by a garish mural in Cable Street and a plaque high on a wall in nearby Dock Street both provided and maintained at local taxpayer's expense by the left-wing, Tower Hamlets Council.

There is an old journalistic motto, "never let the truth get in the way of a good story" and that is certainly the case with the "Battle" of Cable Street.

Even seventy years after the event, Jewish groups and Communists both continue to claim responsibility for the "victory" that never was. In fact there weren't that many Jews actually involved, most had taken notice of an appeal published on October 2nd by the Jewish Chronicle (reproduced below).

Urgent Warning

It is understood that a large Blackshirt demonstration will be held in East London on Sunday afternoon. Jews are urgently warned to keep away from the route of the Blackshirt march and their meetings. Jews who however innocently become involved in any possible disorders will be actively helping anti-Semitism and Jew-baiting. Unless you want to help the Jew baiters

Keep Away

London's East End to speak at several meetings called to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the founding of the British Union of Fascists (BUF). Despite claims to the contrary, the Communists were not particularly well supported in East London and following a decision by their national HQ to attempt to disrupt the BUF march the Communists had to import supporters from as far away as Glasgow and Manchester.

The Metropolitan Police Commissioner, Sir Phillip Game was determined that Mosley's legal march would go ahead and put 6000 police officers on to the streets. The anti-Fascists reacted then as they do now ... they attacked the police. Several hours before the Blackshirts were even due to assemble in Royal Mint Street; the Reds were battling with the police for control of the streets. By the time the Blackshirts started to march, the Reds had hijacked Lorries and trams and used these as barricades from behind which they attacked the police. Sir Phillip Game sent in Mounted officers with long batons to break up what had now plainly become a full scale riot. An urgent message was sent to the Home Secretary advising him that there was rioting in East London, and he promptly banned Mosley's march.

When informed of the ban, Mosley simply changed direction and 2000 Blackshirts and four Blackshirt bands marched west, instead of East, and held an extremely successful rally in the Strand.

So that's the story. Police records show that 70 Communists were arrested during that day, but not one Blackshirt. Dozens of police officers were injured, several quite seriously.

Communists however, were there and were involved. Like their political descendants, the Anti-Nazi League, the 1930s Reds relished any opportunity to attack the police. Mosley had announced weeks before that he had intended to march through

The "battle" of Cable Street was not "a heroic defence of the East End against Fascism by the working class, it was simply Communist led anti-Police riot!
